West Sacramento retail space poised to boom

■ Walmart, Home Depot, Lowe's & Target stores all scheduled to open by next year

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramentans – and those from surrounding areas – may have a whole lot more places to shop in this city in 2007 than they did in 2005. Four more major retail stores are slated to open in the city by next year, joining the IKEA home furnishings store which opened its doors with great fanfare in March.

On the horizon, reports West Sacramento Community Development Director Steve Patek, are:

■ A "Super Walmart" measuring 208,000 square feet is slated to begin selling both "hard" goods and groceries at the Riverpoint marketplace near IKEA and the Harbor Boulevard/Reed Avenue intersection. The store will open "probably in the summer of next year," said Patek.

■ A Target store is under construction at the Southport Town Center, just south of the Nugget grocery store near the Linden Road/Jefferson Blvd. intersection. The store will measure 138,000 square feet, said Patek, and will take the place of what was originally planned to be a handful of smaller, more specialized retail stores at the center.

Target will open next summer, reports Patek.

■ A Home Depot store is going through the final part of the city approval process and will also be built at Riverpoint, nestled into the corner of Harbor and Reed. The store will measure about 102,000 square feet and open near the end of 2007.

■ A Lowe's home improvement store is also on schedule to open in late 2007, in Southport.

"It is basically at the extension of Southport Parkway, just west of Arlington Oaks," said Patek. "There's a proposal there for some offices and restaurants as well."

The site is west of Jefferson Boulevard, near Lake Washington.

Less certain is a proposed new Southport Walgreen drug store.

"It's proposed for across the street from the Pheasant Club, next to the firehouse (now under construction near

Music, picnic & parade! Neighbors Fair & related fun returns this weekend

■ Saturday brings annual Community Day Parade & Neighbors Fair back to West Sac

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

The 5th Annual Neighbors Fair will be held this coming Saturday at River Walk Park on the Sacramento River and with the help of 1971 James Marshall High School graduate Marty DeAnda, there will great music for just about everyone's taste.

For the past six years, Marty's DIG Music Entertainment has been managing local music artists and helping them make new records and when he heard that the Neighbors Fair was in need of someone to organize the music portion of the event, he volunteered to take on the difficult task.

"To tell you the truth," said Marty, "it's not too easy to find four artists or bands that are all free on the same Saturday afternoon, but the Neighbors Fair is such a great event for West Sacramento that I wanted to do all I could to help. I love the idea of bringing different kinds of people together through music and that is exactly what the Neighbors Fair does."

The annual Neighbors Fair is one of the region's biggest free community events and was created to foster public awareness and a greater understanding of the different ethnic groups that make up West Sacramento. Over 4,000 people attended the event last year and organizers hope to increase that number to 5,000 or more this year.

"In terms of music," said Marty, "it's going to be really cross-cultural, including country-western, rock and roll, rhythm and blues, funk, oldies, you name it."

More specifically, performing from 1-6 p.m. on Saturday, October 7th at River Walk Park, will be Trailer Park Rangers, a San Francisco band with a unique sound; Bucho, which features a neo-soul blend of funk, rhythm and blues, and hip-hop; Cold Blood, a funky Bay Area band led by singer Lydia Pense; and Chris Webster, a singer-songwriter known as a member of Mumbo Gumbo who has found a nice niche between country and R & B.

"These are all really great bands and singers," said Marty, "and I'm sure everyone who attends the event is going to love the music."

"The Neighbors Fair actually began with a simple conversation between me, Don Schatzel, Stu Greenfeld and Mark Johannessen," explained West Sacramento community activist Denice Seals. "We were just sitting around trying to think of a way to create a community event which would be mostly free to the public that would bring all of our diverse residents together to celebrate our differences, and that is what the Neighbors Fair has become."

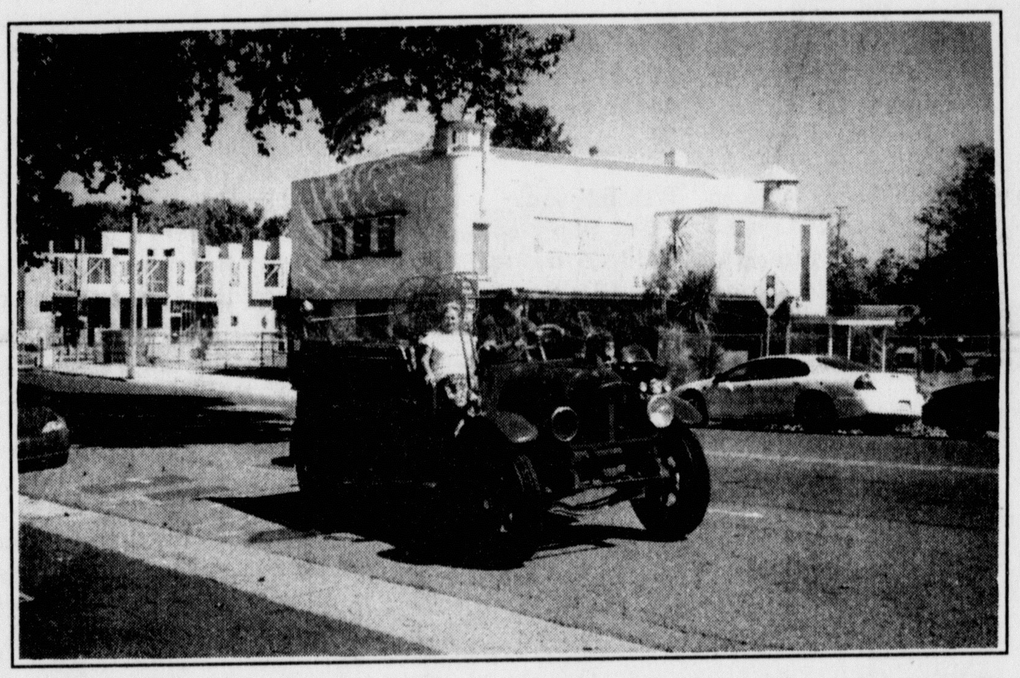
Other free entertainment for the event includes a Polynesian dance group, Hmong dancers, children from the Sikh temple performing traditional dances, Latino folk dancers, and the Russian Orthodox choir.

"West Sacramento Parks and Recreation will be creating a big arts and crafts area for the children this year," said Denice," and there will also be all kinds of delicious food representing all the unique people and different cultures that make up West Sacramento.

This year's Neighbors Fair at River Walk Park will be held in conjunction with the annual Neighbors Fair Parade, which will start at 10 a.m. on the 7th. The route travels West Capitol Avenue at Jefferson, east to 3rd Street, and right at F Street into River Walk Park. In addition, there will be a Neighbors Fair Art Show celebrating West Sacramento's heritage which will feature works by local artists that will be on display on October 4th and 6th from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Civic Center Galleria.

"I hope everyone will try to attend as many of the events as possible this year," added Denice. "It's a wonderful opportunity for the people of West Sacramento to meet their neighbors and I think this is going to be the best Neighbors Fair ever!"

'Old Mary' rolls again



The West Sacramento Historical Society on September 24 celebrated its 13th anniversary. For part of the festivities, Kathy Perrigo and Pat Stanley took the society's vintage 'Old Mary' fire truck out for a spin.

The society is looking for help maintaining its old trucks, formerly owned by local volunteer fire departments. Call Thom Lewis, 372-7438, for information.

Seeking pay increase, local teachers take up pickets

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento teachers took to the picket line Monday evening, outside a special meeting of the Washington Unified School District's trustees, to protest the lack of a contract for their union.

A statement from the Washington Teachers Association criticized the district for failing to offer a salary increase in the most recent of the negotiation meetings,

"Tonight's picketing at the school board meeting is a wake-up call to the board of education," said union president Regina Jarrott-Briggs in the press statement. "WUSD teachers deserve comparable salaries. West Sacramento's children deserve the best educators."

A three-year contract for the teachers expired in June. The union has declared "impasse" in the negotiations.

Superintendent Steven Lawrence, head administrator for the district, could not immediately be reached for comment.

Shots fired near skate park

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Four 18-year olds from Sacramento County were arrested Thursday on suspicion of firing a handgun near a local skateboard park. The motive for the shots was not clear, said West Sacramento Police Lieutenant David Farmer, but no one was hurt and it appears that the suspects fired their gun from their car into the air.

The incident happened at about 6:15 p.m. near the skate park at Evergreen Avenue and Westacre Road.

"There were people in the park," Farmer recounted. "Other people nearby reported hearing gunshots. There was a brief description given of a (suspect) vehicle. It appeared the suspects fired the rounds into the air and not at anybody in particular."

The suspects' car was spotted near the scene:

"Patrol officers saw a vehicle matching the description and made a traffic stop," Farmer continued. "There were four male subjects in the vehicle. They all live in the Sacramento area."

The traffic stop occurred in the nearby school district office along Westacre Road.

"A handgun was found in the car. It was a revolver, and apparently all six shots were fired."

The four suspects were arrested for possession of the firearm in a public place, illegally discharging it, and for possession of stolen property, as the gun had been reported stolen. The suspects were identified as Walter Coleman of Elk Grove and Nicholas Iorg, Jarod Dickerson and Dennis Sears of Sacramento.

Newspaper election policies

To help preserve some fair play among the campaigns jockeying for your vote on the Nov. 7 ballot, the News-Ledger will stick to its proven election-year policies.

There will be no negative campaigning allowed in our Nov. 1 edition, as that is our final publication before the election, and the targets of any negative comments would not have a fair chance to respond before the vote. This policy includes both political advertising and letters to the editor.

Before Nov. 1, ads and letters will have a wider latitude for their content, within the usual editorial guidelines.

Political ads will be given priority of position in the newspaper, when practical, according to the order in which they are received and paid for. Political advertising must be paid in advance.

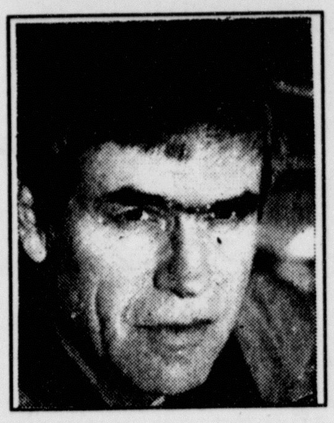
Some questions that lack well-known answers



My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

Like most of the poor souls who consider themselves small-town columnists and have to somehow come up with 750 brand new words each and every week to put into their hometown newspaper, I'm always on the lookout for books or magazine articles or anything else which just might interest readers and at the same time also do most of my work for me. One such book, entitled "Why Do Some Shoes Squeak" by George W. Stimpson, recently came to my attention and here are just a few of the almost 600 answers he provides to what I think are some very important questions:

What causes the holes in Swiss cheese? The characteristic holes in Swiss cheese are produced by gases generated by bacterial action during the process of fermentation. It is also probable that the grazing pastures of particular regions influence the formation of the gases and holes, too.

Do tornadoes actually drive straws into boards? Yes. The velocity of the wind in the whirl of a tornado sometimes attains a speed of 300 miles an hour. That such wind frequently drives quills, straws and splinters into solid boards and tree trunks has been well established.

What is the function of a cat's whiskers? There is an old belief that a cat uses its whiskers to determine whether it can squeeze through a small hole or opening. According to this notion, the whiskers are exactly the same width as the animal's body and if they touch the sides of the hole the cat will not attempt to enter.

Does corn grow faster in the day or in the night? Other things being equal, corn grows most rapidly on warm nights.

Did Mrs. O'Leary's cow really start the great Chicago fire of 1871? No. Mrs. O'Leary's cow is a mythical animal and the story that the fire was started by a kerosene lantern kicked over by a cow which was being milked by Mrs. O'Leary was fabricated by a newspaper reporter. The fire, which killed 250 people and destroyed 17,500 Chicago buildings was probably started by spontaneous combustion or the carelessness of persons smoking in the barn.

Are elephants afraid of mice? No. The greatest fears of wild elephants in India are said to be dogs and human beings.

Why is the engagement ring worn on the fourth finger? The custom of wearing engagement and wedding rings on the fourth finger of the left hand originated in an ancient belief that a very delicate nerve runs directly from that finger to the heart.

Why do monkeys search through their hair? It is generally supposed that monkeys continually search through their own hair and that of other monkeys for fleas, lice, and other body parasites. Actually, salt exudes from the pores of the skin of monkeys and remains on loose bits of skin, and it is for these that the animals are continually searching and picking.

Why is it considered unlucky for a black cat to cross one's path? That it is a sign of bad luck for a black cat to cross one's path a short distance ahead is one of the most prevalent of all superstitions. It probably originated with the medieval belief that Satan often assumed the form of a black tom-cat when he sallied out upon an excursion of mischief.

Are bulls excited more by red than other colors? No. Bullfighters dress in bright colors and wave pieces of bright-red colored cloth in the arena mostly to attract the spectators. White is actually the color that is most effective for infuriating a bull. But it is the brightness of the cloth in motion rather than any particular color that maddens the bull.

How did the honeymoon originate? It was the custom of an ancient people who inhabited the northern parts of Germany to drink mead, or metheglin, a beverage made with honey, for 30 days after every wedding, but the custom of the honeymoon probably symbolizes the primitive practice of stealing the bride and concealing her from her people.

Why do sea shells roar? The noise is merely a composite of the echoes of a great number of ordinary sounds occurring in the vicinity of the shell. Because of the peculiar shape of the shell and the smoothness of its interior, the least vibration produces an echo, and numerous such echoes are blended into what sounds like a rumble or roar.

Why do we have a best man at weddings? The custom of having a best man at weddings is believed to be have originated during the days of primitive marriage by capture, when a man seized a woman and carried her away by force. He would naturally, under such circumstances, select a faithful friend or follower to go with him to help ward off the attacks of the girl's kinsmen while he stole away with her. Thus the selection of a best man actually represents early man's need to take a friend with him on a prehistoric marauding expedition.

Joke of the week: A little girl, dressed up in her Sunday best, was running as fast as she could, trying not to be late for Bible school. As she ran she prayed, "Dear Lord, please don't let me be late! Dear Lord, please don't let me be late!"

As she was running and praying, she suddenly tripped and fell, getting her clothes dirty and tearing her dress. She got up, brushed herself off, and started running again.

As she ran she once again began to pray, "Dear Lord, please don't let me be late...but please don't push me form behind again, either!"

Linden Road and Jefferson). The difficulty is that it's not exactly the use envisioned by the framework plan, which calls for 'mixed use.'"

The Walgreen goes in front of the city planning commission on Oct. 19.

"I believe we will be recommending denial," said Patek.

Further along is a planned small retail center across from Tower Mart nearby, built "on spec" (without committed tenants).

The four new major retailers, combined with IKEA, will help draw a new picture of retail in West Sacramento.

"I think we're looking at at least a 50 percent increase in (retail) square footage," Patek said, comparing the coming retail market with the one that existed before IKEA. "Probably a major difference from the older retail is that these are all 'destination retail' that will attract people from outside the community as well as from inside."

And that spells both "shopping opportunity" and "sales tax dollars" for West Sacramento.

In these times of questionable home values, what is the true value of a home? In this region alone there are well over 100 current homes for sale in pretty much every sales price, so putting a value on ones homes makes it difficult for agents. What was the normal thing to do is premises your homes value based on comparable "SALES" in your neighborhood and price your home accordingly. However with a limited supply of buyers, what is it that will set your home apart from the many homes for sale with basically all the same amenities and asking price as yours? Your agent may ask you to continue lowering the prices to stay behind the most current listings. However this tactic has proven to make for bad relationships between you and your agent. How long to have your home listed is another question?

I have always touted that a well priced home will always sell no matter what kind of market you are in! But what is that price, you ask? As a seller you become a buyer (hopefully), and what will tickle your fancy when you are out there looking for homes to purchase? Location: maybe, price: probably, schools: yes, affordability: probably...Are you waiting for the price to come down on the house you want to purchase? And if so, how low do you want it to go before you make an offer? Well the same thing goes for those people who are looking to purchase your home. Make your home stand out by offering to help those people purchase your home, not the agent; negotiated commissions to help your bottom line, know your competition and don't let ego get in the way. Price to SELL. Sit down with your agent and go over a plan and stick to it. Since Price right now is the hot topic, then price to sell....

If you have questions regarding what your home is worth or how it can sell potentially quicker, feel free to call me anytime and we will go over all your options. -- David Trussell

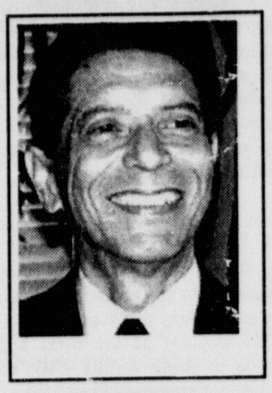
SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa



By Richard Novoa

As the fall weather begins to settle in across the United States the NFL schedule begins to take meaning and the Major League Baseball season ends and the playoffs are ready to go especially for the Oakland A's. The A's, who will be making their 23-post season appearance, will be seeking their 10 World Series Championship trophy. The A's last World Series Championship was in 1989.

The A's will go with 11 pitchers on their 25-man roster that will include infielder D'Angelo Jimenez and outfielder Hiram Bocachica, both of whom played most of the season in West Sacramento with the River Cats. What a way to end the 2006 season for these two young Gatos!

Too bad the season couldn't end better for two local favorites in Cubs manager, Dusty Baker and Felipe Alou (71 yrs.), the Giants skipper. Both of these fine managers contracts will not be renewed after posting losing seasons in Chicago and San Francisco.

The G-Men have some rebuilding of the oldest roster in the Major Leagues and must decide to what to do with Mr. Bonds. Bonds finished the season with a respectable .270, with 23 doubles, 77 RBI's and 26 home runs. Bonds has 734 home runs, 22 shy of breaking Hank Aaron's career record of 755 and will be eligible for free agency after the World Series. Bonds could play another year for the G-Men but maybe he'll go to the American League where he could help some team as a designated hitter. Can you say Yankees or maybe he'll end up in Disneyland to play for the Angels!

Major League Playoffs

The best of five American League playoffs will start on Tuesday with the Oakland A's playing in Minnesota against the Twins and the New York Yankees will be hosting the wild card Detroit Tigers. The A's are in tough with the Twins and must win one at the Metrodome or the Twins will win in five. The Yankees should take care of the inexperience Tigers in four.

In the National League, the Cardinals will travel to San Diego and the Los Angeles Dodgers will head east to tackle the New York Mets. The Mets should beat L.A. in five games and the Padres, who are red hot and will take care of St. Louis but don't be surprised to see the Dodgers and Padres battle it out for the National League pennant.

NFL Week 5

The 49ers (1-3) were shut out 41-0 by Kansas City after the Chiefs enjoyed their bye week but the Oakland Raiders (0-3) couldn't take advantage of their bye week, losing to the Browns 24-21 at the Black Hole.

Yes, I jinx 49ers quarterback, Alex Smith, when I said he hadn't thrown an interception all season so what does he do in K.C.? He toss two picks and I also praised the Raiders young QB, Andrew Walter, who didn't fare any better completing 9 of 23 passes and throwing his first interception of his pro career! Sorry Guys!

Anyway, this Sunday we get to enjoy the "Battle of the Bay" as the 3 ½ point favorite 49ers host the winless Oakland Raiders (1 p.m.-FOX) at Monster Park. It will be Smith vs Walter and the Silver and Black Attack vs the Niners!

Aztecs Picks

Aztec (7-9) is in the doghouse this week after losing his first college lick of the week when Miami didn't cover the spread and going 1-2 in the NFL losing with Da Raiders!

This week won't be any easier but the Aztec has an itch for the N.Y. Giants (-3 ½) over the Redskins and the Carolina Panthers (-8) will claw up the Browns and on Monday night the Broncos (-3 ½) will hand Baltimore their first loss of the season in the Mile High weather. The college "Lick of the Week" is Texas (-5) over Oklahoma in Dallas.

Enjoy your day- see ya next week!

TREES MAY BE PLANTED ALONG STATE HIGHWAY EAST AND WEST OF CAUSEWAY

PROPOSAL HAS BEEN MADE AND IS UNDER CONSIDERATION BY STATE FORESTER HOMANS

A proposal has been made to the State Forester, G. M. Homans, by Secretary Fred Shaffer of the Yolo County Board of Trade, that shade trees be planted along the road from the Southern Pacific Bridge, westward to the causeway and again between the western end of the causeway and Davis.

The proposal has been received by Mr. Homans in a friendly spirit and has been taken under consideration by his department.

If it is possible that sufficient funds are available for the purpose the trees will be planted either this spring or late next fall.

In Sacramento County the Auburn Boulevard has been planted with shade trees as far east as the Twelve Mile House. This work was done by the County Forestry Board and promises to beautify the boulevard to a great extent. In only a few instances have the trees failed even in this dry land.

Along the causeway there will be no necessity for irrigation and if the trees are properly protected when planted they should mature without any extra care except that which is necessary in protecting them from severe wind storms or loose stock.

LIGHTING RATE FOR WASHINGTON UNDER CONSIDERATION BY RAILROAD COMMISSION

BUSINESS MEN OF THE TOWN WILL BE CANVASSED BY THE LADIES OF THE CLUB FOR THE PURPOSE OF ENROLLING THEM AS MEMBERS

Taken under consideration was the verdict returned to the Washington Improvement Club last Tuesday evening by E. A. Palm, who had been sent as a delegate to appear before the Commissioners at their meeting in San Francisco on March 15th.

This hearing had been postponed on several occasions from an early date in 1917 and when taken up on March 15, 1918, the Commissioners decided that the question would be handled after due consideration and a return made later on.

At the same hearing the question of raising the rates for several other communities was before the Commissioners on application made by the power and lighting companies of the State.

These corporations claim that the rates prevalent during several years past are insufficient now to remunerate them because of the phenomenal increase in wages and the extraordinary raise in the cost of material.

Sitting as a Board of Equalization, the Railroad Commissioners will render judgment at a subsequent date.

The principal objection taken by the Washington Improvement Club is that the rate prevailing and assessed against home-owners in Washington is 10 cents per kilowatt hour, while that prevalent in Sacramento varies between 3 cents and a maximum of 7 cents.

E. A. Palm had been appointed a delegate to attend the meeting and explained to the Commissioners the request made by the Improvement Club.

At the meeting last Tuesday evening, the club issued a warrant paying his traveling expenses to the meeting.

Individual members of the club and conjointly all of them are going to make a strenuous effort to secure the cooperation of all the men doing business in the community. Most of these have been conspicuous by their absence from the deliberations of the club and while some are dormant members, little work has been done by any of them for the benefit of the town.

The club will ask each and every one of them to become active in promoting the affairs of the community.

In order to avoid any disagreement in the future, two sets of keys have been provided for the piano owned by the club and located in the Town Hall. One set is in the possession of Mrs. Wm. Wilson, while Mrs. J. McNevin holds the other.

The club decided last Tuesday evening to take an active part in the selection of one or more Fire Commissioners at the election that will be held on April 2d.

Peter McGregor was selected as a club candidate for the position of Fire Commissioner.

concrete sidewalk in front of Percy Hart's house is that all the lines are drawn parallel instead of being criscross like those of metropolitan cities. However, any kind of a sidewalk is preferable to mud and Percy should have the approval of all the neighbors for the start he has already made. Perhaps other property owners will take copy from this shining example. Another thing wrong with Percy's sidewalk is that it sticks up in the air six inches above the adjoining walks and somebody is liable to stub their toe and break a nose some dark night for which Percy might be held liable.

Last Tuesday night Earl Pankost tried his best to get away with the draw of the Southern Pacific bridge. Steering a barge load of one hundred cords of wood down stream he got too close to the middle pier and lost his pilot house as a consequence. A man inside the pilot house managed to climb on the dislodged structure and floated easily down stream but was rescued south of the M-street bridge. Some of the boys joking Earl said that he was watching a chicken on the bridge instead of paying attention to the middle pier.

Mrs. C. Newton returned from San Francisco and San Jose last Wednesday after visiting her two daughters at those two points.

Mrs. E. O. Giles, head nurse of the Southern Pacific Hospital in Sacramento was a visitor with friends and relatives in Washington yesterday.

Mrs. Ed. Peek was a visitor last Wednesday at Roseville and spent the day with friends and relatives.

Miss R. Millan spent several days of the past week at the home of Mrs. Ortiz. She will return to San Francisco Saturday or Sunday.

Ed. Wilson is confined to his home on Second street with a severe spell of grippe.

Charlie Clifton is at the home of his parents after two months' stay in the State of Oregon. Charlie says that it is too cold and wet in that northern country for any gentleman.

Mrs. T. Evans has gone to Oakland to spend a week or ten days visiting her daughter.

Edward Baglin is down with a case of pneumonia but is reported improving.

Ted Porter made a trip to Stockton, returning Monday afternoon.

H. J. Winters made a flying trip to Elk Grove for business purposes last Monday.

Mrs. P. J. Braun has been seriously sick at her home during the past week but is gradually improving.

Mrs. A. Richeson of Redding has been a visitor during the past few days with relatives.

Mrs. Francis Davison, who has been seriously sick at her home in Riverbank, is now out of danger and improving rapidly.

Mrs. Mary Hale, who is suffering with a severe case of pneumonia, has shown considerable improvement during the past few days.

FIRE TRUSTEE ELECTION THREATENS HEATED CAMPAIGN

Election for Fire Trustees, which will take place on April 2, promises a lively contest such as has not been seen here for some time past.

The incumbents, Walter Leinberger, S. T. Rickard and J. S. Lear are candidates to succeed themselves while Peter McGregor has the backing of the Improvement Club as a candidate.

There is a possibility also that a lady may enter the race but so far she has not announced herself to The Independent.

The position of Fire Trustee carries no salary being entirely honorary but with some patronage. These trustees have charge of the Town Hall building and have charge of the funds derived from dances and entertainments held therein.

It is important that the trustees be active and that they take an interest in the affairs of the community.

POSTPONED DANCE WILL TAKE PLACE TOMORROW NIGHT

The dance which was to take place last Saturday night in the Town Hall for the benefit of the Washington Boys' Band was postponed because of the many counter attractions in Sacramento on that evening.

There was the celebration of St. Patrick's Day, a Native Sons' dance and several other entertainments which prompted the boys' band to postpone theirs until tomorrow evening.

On tomorrow evening a great crowd is expected at the Town Hall to help out this worthy cause, the boys themselves furnishing music for the occasion.

The boys at Camp Lewis cannot even enjoy near-beer any more, for an order has been issued preventing its delivery at the camp.

The boys are better off without this rot-gut.

OPINION

From the Mailbag:

Letters to the Editor

Enforcing my backyard

What are you thinking? This is not a premier city nor will it ever be. My reason for this letter is code enforcement. I received a violation for a car being stored in my backyard -- my backyard. My property is on a corner, the lot is large and is surrounded by a six foot wooden fence (which I would like to add is up to code). This means that whoever turned me in had to come onto my property and look over the fence; isn't that trespassing? Can anyone see the car? No. Was it on the street? No. But is it considered a nuisance by our city? Yes. There's the problem. As I wanted to discuss/solve this horrendous crime I had committed I called the code enforcement officer and got his voicemail. In my message I asked for an extension and since no one responded either in writing or by telephone I figured my request was granted. Even to this day there has been no response to either one of my messages.

Cut to the chase. I now have two weeks to remove the car. Will I comply with this totally outlandish regulation? Sure. I'm a taxpaying, law abiding citizen and have been all my life. Quite frankly, I can't afford to fight city hall. Funny how the city sets the fines ($110) and the filing fee to fight it ($250) out of reach for many of us.

I've been a resident of West Sac for 43 years and find it so sad that we've gone from Mayberry to Elk Grove clone. If I wanted to live in Elk Grove I would move there. I just wish that the neighbor who turned me in would have been man/women enough to knock on my door and tell me why this was so bothersome to them. All of this because I was storing a car for a friend since I own a big backyard that, apparently, is not totally mine (since I can't use it for my own purposes) except when it comes to paying the property taxes.

Don't post on power poles

They're all over town -- utility poles plastered with signs and notices for yard sales, political campaigns and lost animals. But the signs and handbills posted on utility poles are more than an eyesore. They're also a serious hazard for utility workers who climb the poles.

Nails, staples, tacks, and screws used to post signs can cause serious injury to utility workers who climb the wooden utility power poles every day. This is a particular problem during election season.

When the signs fall off or are removed, the fasteners often remain in the pole, causing utility workers to get cut or injured. Nails and staples can obstruct climbing gear, causing workers to slip or fall as they climb. And even the tiniest puncture in a line workers rubber gloves can expose them to severe shock from power lines.

When advertising for a political candidate, lost pet, garage sale or other event, please avoid posting signs on power poles.

Thanks, Tim!

This is to express our heartfelt gratitude to Tim Rydjord, Store Director of Woodland Nugget Market and his staff, on behalf of the 325 seniors in Yolo County who depend on a nutritious lunchtime meal.

As the community knows, we all experienced a terrible wind storm and subsequent fires a few weeks back. Elderly Nutrition Program, located on N. East Street in Woodland, was without power for quite some time and our kitchen staff who start work at 5 a.m. came to a dark kitchen and had to scramble to change our menu so seniors could be fed. When the power wasn't back on by 7 a.m., we called Nugget to see if they could slice our pastrami meat (they had power and multiple slicers), as we would have to serve a cold meal instead of a hot one that day.

Tim and his staff came through with slicing over 80 pounds of pastrami meat within one hours time! The ENP staff then got to work, by lanterns, making over 300 sandwiches to distribute in the communities of West Sacramento, Davis, Woodland, Esparto, Knights Landing and Winters. Nugget Markets have always been thought of as community-minded and this just shows how far they are willing to go for their community. Thanks!

PG&E supports vets

We are writing to express our since gratitude to PG&E for the generous support they have given our Yolo County Veterans Coalition Van Program. They have supported us for many years in the past and recently made a very substantial contribution to this very worthy cause. This program picks up elderly and disable Yolo County veterans at their homes and takes them to their VA medical appointments, waits for them, and brings them back home. This service is provided free of charge to all veterans.

A majority of the people we serve are WWII veterans and their widows who are members of our Greatest Generation. Without support from companies like PG&E this service would cease to exist. PG&E has also pledged to install a new light on the newly installed flagpole at the Cottonwood Cemetery so the Stars & Stripes can fly 24 hours a day.

Again, thank you PG&E for being such a big supporter of our veteran community in Yolo County.

TERRY PARKHURST
Chairman, Yolo County Veterans Coalition

Invitation to a firehouse, plus fire safety tips

From Art Schroeder
City of West Sacramento

For the fifth year, the West Sacramento Fire Department (WSFD) invites families to an "open house" event, Saturday, Oct. 14, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. For the second year, Fire Station 43, located at 1561 Harbor Blvd., will host the open house. City firefighters have put together fun and informative activities. Admission is free.

Visitors can tour the fire house and receive equipment and safety demonstrations. Of special importance are the demonstrations on child car seat safety and the proper use of smoke detectors.

Kids attending the open house will enjoy face painting, coloring contests, and the fire department's jump house.

Free refreshments will be available while supply lasts.

The WSFD open house is in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14. The 2006 theme of the campaign is "Prevent Cooking Fires: Watch What You Heat." Three out of ten home fires start in the kitchen—more than any other place in the home—according to the National Fire Protection Association. There are over 100,000 home fires associated with cooking equipment reported annually. Two out of three home cooking fires start with the stove or range.

Please follow these cooking safety tips:

- Never leave food cooking on the stovetop unattended;
- Keep cooking areas clean and clear of combustibles, like potholders, towels, drapes and food packaging;
- Keep kids away at least 3 feet away from cooking areas;
- Always keep a potholder, over mitt and lid handy. If a small fire starts in a pan or stove, put on an oven mitt and smother the flames by carefully sliding the lid over the pan. Turn off the burner. Don't remove the lid until it's completely cool;
- Never pour water on a grease fire;
- If there is a microwave fire, keep the door closed and unplug the microwave. Call the fire department and make sure to have the oven serviced before you use it again.

"The Protector"

Running time: 84 minutes
MPAA rating: R

Tony Jaa stars as Kham, the protector of a sacred Thai baby elephant and its father, which are stolen by minions of one Madam Rose (Jin Xing), an evil transexual, who bugger off to Aussie Land with the petite pachyderm and its papa. A group of Buddhist monks chant, meditate and use their powers of divination to tell Kham where to begin looking for the poor heffalumps.

And so begins an hour-long string of action sequences (speedboat chases, lots of explosions and many set pieces for Jaa to showcase his mastery of Muay Thai, a martial art specific to Thailand that takes energy concentrated in the abs and releases it through the knees, elbows and shoulders).

Unfortunately, the string of action sequences is broken up with boring, idiotic scenes (that don't include Jaa) that attempt to serve as exposition or comic relief. They bring the film to a screeching halt and don't really serve to advance the story or the entertainment value of the movie.

One such scene involves a police sergeant on the case of the missing elephants. He's followed around Sydney by a news crew as he mugs for the camera, gets a haircut and foils a convenience store robbery by a local kid he knows. It's supposed to be a played for laughs, but the performance is played way too broadly.

"The Protector" is a movie best watched on home video. When Jaa gets to kick booty, that's when the film cooks. (There's a great fight scene where he has to whoop on about two dozen thugs on inline skates, armed with florescent tubes, that is just plain awesome to watch.) Otherwise, it's best to be able to fast-forward through all the dull, inconsequential stuff.

The Messiah of Morris Avenue
By Tony Hendrix
(Henry Holt and Co., $24)
Reviewed by Cindy Elavsky

"The Messiah of Morris Avenue" is hands-down the best book of 2006. If you are familiar with Tony Hendrix only as the editor of "National Lampoon" or as Ian Faith in "This Is Spinal Tap," then you are missing an entirely different side of this man.

As the story begins, it is the second decade of the second millennium. There is no longer a separation of church and state, and Christianity is the law of the land. Anything deemed to be vulgar or un-Christian-like is strictly prohibited, and in many cases is punishable by death.

Seasoned and jaded reporter Johnny Greco is subjected to a life of mundane "news coverage" that consists of covering the Academy Awards from Grauman's Christian Theater in Hollywood, Calif., with Reverend James Sabbath, the spiritual adviser to the president of the United States, presiding over the ceremony. Greco yearns to be able to report a "real story," but the current government suppresses such information and punishes anyone who would do otherwise.

He has resigned himself to a meaningless life of fluff pieces and pandering, when he gets wind of a real news story: A young man in New Jersey has proclaimed himself to be the second coming of Jesus Christ. Greco is used to dealing with such crackpots who think they are the Lord, but something about this man makes him want to know more.

He begins an investigative piece that will lead him to discover the passion of faith, the joy of miracles and the inspiration that one man can bring to many. And in doing so, Hendrix manages to instill these lasting emotions in his readers.

Much like his nonfiction book, "Father Joe," swept across America to numerous kudos, so should "Messiah." It needs to be at the top of everyone's Must Read list.

Moments in time
THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Oct. 10, 1845, the Naval School opens in Annapolis, Md., with 50 midshipmen students and seven professors. It officially became the U.S. Naval Academy in 1850, and a new curriculum went into effect, requiring midshipmen to study at the academy for four years and to train aboard ships each summer.

• On Oct. 15, 1917, Mata Hari is executed for espionage by a French firing squad. It is probable that French authorities trumped her up as "the greatest woman spy of the century" as a distraction for the huge losses the French army was suffering on the Western Front.

• On Oct. 11, 1923, three men blow up the mail car of a Southern Pacific train carrying passengers through southern Oregon in a botched robbery attempt. The bomb the thieves used was too powerful, and the entire mail car was blown to bits.

• On Oct. 9, 1936, harnessing the power of the Colorado River, Hoover Dam begins sending electricity over 266 miles of transmission lines to Los Angeles. When it was finished in 1935, Hoover was the tallest dam in the world.

• On Oct. 12, 1945, PFC Desmond T. Doss of Lynchburg, Va., is presented the Congressional Medal of Honor for outstanding bravery as a medical corpsman, the first conscientious objector in American history to receive the nation's highest military award.

• On Oct. 13, 1953, the Artmobile, the world's first mobile art gallery, part of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, begins touring Virginia with an exhibition of art objects, making its first stop in Fredericksburg.

• On Oct. 14, 1962, the Cuban Missile Crisis begins, bringing the United States and the Soviet Union to the brink of nuclear conflict. Photographs taken by a U-2 spy plane offered evidence of Soviet-made missiles in Cuba. During the next two weeks, the United States and the USSR would come as close to nuclear war as they ever had.

Strange BUT TRUE
By Samantha Weaver

• Would you prefer fame or infamy? Before you decide, you might want to consider this fact: More books have been written about serial killer Jack the Ripper than about all the American presidents put together.

• It's still not known who made the following sage observation, but with political rhetoric heating up in advance of the November election, we all might want to keep it in mind: "The fewer the facts, the stronger the opinion."

• It was in July 1957 that John Lennon and Paul McCartney first met. It was in Liverpool, England, at a church dance where John's band, The Quarrymen, was playing. Paul wasn't from the neighborhood, but he'd ridden his bicycle over in hopes of picking up girls there. After the band played, Paul and John were introduced, but they didn't really get along all that well. That is, until Paul mentioned that he was a guitar player and that he knew how to tune one. It seems that nobody in John's band knew how to tune the instrument. Thus began one of the most famous partnerships in rock 'n' roll history.

• Many people believe that your hair continues to grow after you die. What actually happens is that the skin shrinks, giving the illusion of hair growth.

• Paleontologists in Australia have announced the discovery of the fossilized remains of a new creature. At first glance this may not sound like a terribly interesting revelation, but listen to what the scientists are calling the extinct animal: "demon duck of doom." The team at the site in the Australian state of Queensland describes the creatures as very big duck-like birds, adding "some may have been carnivorous as well."

Fave Foods OF THE FAMOUS
by Steven Austin

Christa B. Allen

At the age of 8, California native Christa B. Allen, the star of the new CBS-TV children's series "Cake," already knew she wanted to pursue a career in acting. Before most kids even finished third grade, she began to focus on her chosen path, getting parts in commercials, independent films and even a lead role in the hit movie "13 Going on 30" as Jennifer Garner's younger self.

You can see Allen, now 14, every Saturday morning playing a teenage girl who hosts a cable-access TV show with the help of her best friends. Viewers can get more information and exclusive behind-the-scenes content about "Cake" and other shows in CBS' Saturday morning "Secret Slumber Party" lineup at www.secret-slumberparty.com.

Speaking of "Cake," what's your favorite flavor cake, and tell us about a memorable cake you enjoyed?

"Favorite is chocolate. Definitely! Or ice-cream cake. I could live on that stuff. As for a memorable cake, my aunt used to make cakes professionally. One year for my birthday, when I was really young and quite into dolls, she made me a doll cake. The cake was sort of a cone shape that formed the dress, and there was a little plastic doll torso in the top. It was purple. I don't think I shared it with anyone that year."

With eight older brothers, is there any fighting over food at the dinner table?

"Only on fried chicken night. Mom's fried chicken is the stuff of legends."

On "Cake" you host a cable-access show. If you could host a real show about food, what would be the theme?

"I would love to host a show about food, but I don't think I could. I'd end up eating all the good stuff before were able to complete the taping."

Name a few stars you'd like to have lunch with, and where you would dine.

"Natalie Portman, Elton John, Dustin Hoffman, Johnny Depp and Robert Plant. I'd want to go somewhere quiet, so I could hear every word of the conversation. These people are brilliant! Or if they've got any off-beat favorite places where I could try something new, that would be fun."

Secret snacks you really shouldn't be eating but still do.

"Skittles. Can we say addicted?! You know what, I should try putting Skittles on a cake. Has anyone done that before?"

Know Grain, Know Gain

(NAPS)—It's a no-grainer! Both high in protein and low in fat, oats were the first food ever to be allowed to make health claims by the FDA.

Oats are a great source of dietary fiber, which, when combined with exercise, can help lower cholesterol and decrease your risk of heart disease.

The fiber in oats also slows sugar absorption and has been linked to reductions in colon, breast and prostate cancers.

Grain food is brain food.

California Suncakes are rich in oats and provide an excellent blend of complete proteins and clean carbohydrates. Made from oats, brown rice syrup, brown rice flour, soy protein concentrate, soy flour, dried fruit and fruit juice, they are 97 percent fat free and supply 30 percent of your daily protein and fiber needs.

To learn more, visit www.suncakes.com, call (800) 830-0309 or write to California Suncakes, P.O. Box 8688, Emeryville, CA 94608.
